

Myanmar (Birma)

Sonntag, 18. November 2012

Two years after more or less opening the country for tourists and just some months after announcing freedom of the press I visited Myanmar, former known as Burma.

Some says the government is just really bust that's why they're feeling enforced to open the borders, but maybe it's just because some progress for this nation is necessary and it's time to do some steps forward. However I hope for Myanmar and its multi ethnic peoples it's because of the second reason mentioned.

.flickr_badge_image {margin:0px;display:inline;}
.flickr_badge_image img {border: 0px solid #666666 !important; padding:1px; margin:0px;}
#flickr_badge_wrapper {width:420px;text-align:left}
Check all the Burma photos at myflickr album.